

Methodology Used in Developing Preliminary Estimates of Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine 2005 Legitimate Use

The Drug Enforcement Administration (DEA) is required, as part of the Methamphetamine Epidemic Elimination Act, to develop annual quotas for the manufacture and importation of ephedrine, pseudoephedrine, and phenylpropanolamine products for legitimate utilization in the U.S. At DEA's request, IMS Health (IMS) identified an approach for generating estimates of 2005 usage for ephedrine and pseudoephedrine based upon the integration of the data assets IMS has available, which include outlet sales, consumer purchases, and medical claims. Due to the veterinary use of phenylpropanolamine, consideration of approaches for this product will be addressed in a later document. This memorandum documents the methodology used in developing preliminary estimates of ephedrine and pseudoephedrine usage. The results obtained yield preliminary estimates of 379.1 million grams of Pseudoephedrine compounds and 3.5 million grams of Ephedrine compounds as the preliminary legitimate use volumes for 2005.

Concept

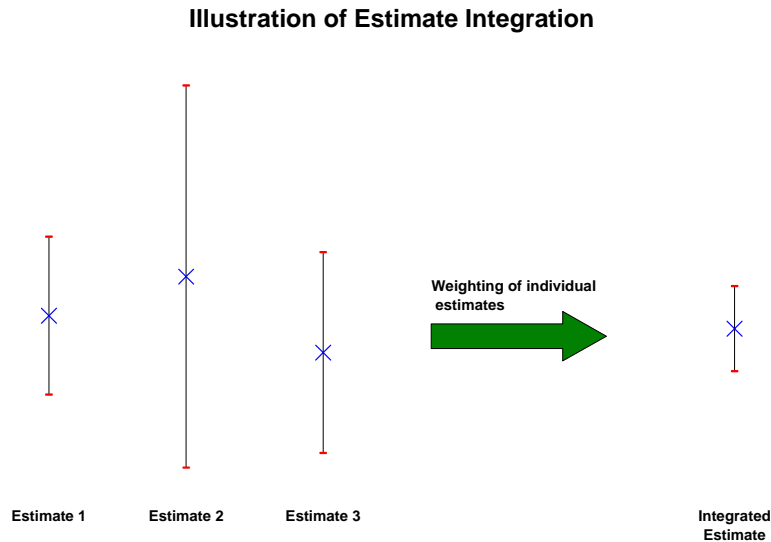

DEA requires a best estimate of the magnitude of the legitimate use of ephedrine and pseudoephedrine for 2005. Although no direct estimate for this measure is currently available, IMS has access to a variety of data sources that provide differing insights about the marketplace, and which can be used in developing an appropriate estimate. These data sources can be utilized to develop multiple, independent estimates of the legitimate use of ephedrine and pseudoephedrine, each derived using databases providing a view of the market from a different perspective. These independent estimates can then be integrated by taking into account information about the uncertainty associated with each estimate in order to develop a best estimate,

The first estimate is based upon product sales to outlets, from IMS' National Sales Perspective (NSP) service, supplemented with information from IMS' Drug Distribution Database (DDD) and National Prescription Audit (NPA), and ACNielsen's Scantrack (ST) and Homescan (HS) services. The second estimate is based upon product sales to customers, from NPA, ST, and HS services, supplemented with information from DDD and NSP services. The third estimate is based upon patient prescription claims data from IMS' ReferencePoint (RP) database, supplemented with information from U.S. Census Bureau population estimates and IMS' National Disease and Therapeutic Index (NDTI), NSP, DDD, ST, and HS services.

Each of these estimates is derived by starting with the core information available from the data assets, then developing a model that explains the relationship between the measure represented by the core information and the estimate of interest (legitimate use of ephedrine and pseudoephedrine). The model will be based upon a combination of knowledge about the data asset and outside information.

The individual estimates are integrated based upon assessments of the uncertainty associated with each estimate. In this fashion, greater weight is given to that estimate determined to provide the greatest accuracy. Combining estimates in this way yields an overall estimate with greater accuracy than any individual estimate, and can be represented in the following illustration, with the “X” representing the point estimate, and the “-“ representing the upper and lower confidence intervals for the estimate.. (NOTE: confidence intervals are not available for the estimates, rather a measure of uncertainty based upon knowledge of the data source and the modeling necessary to derive the estimate will be used in determining the weights.)

Methodology

Following are descriptions of the methodology employed to develop each preliminary estimate. Expected areas of refinement for final estimates are noted.

A. Outlet Purchase Data-based Estimate (Base Source: NSP; Ancillary Sources: NPA, ST, HS, DDD)

IMS Health’s National Sales Perspective (NSP) provides national level monthly estimates of pharmaceutical product purchases, in units and dollars, made by outlets that dispense products through prescriptions and/or physician orders. Estimates are generated at the product package level within each of a number of channels (chain – including mass merchandiser – pharmacies, independent pharmacies, foodstores with pharmacies, mail service pharmacies, non-federal hospitals, federal facilities, long-term care facilities, clinics, HMOs, home healthcare, and miscellaneous – including universities, prisons, and miscellaneous other facilities).

IMS HEALTH obtains data from two basic sources encompassing roughly 85% of the total U.S. pharmaceutical sales volume: approximately 265 Drug Distribution Data (DDD) warehouses that supply indirect pharmaceutical purchases by outlets; and approximately 100 manufacturers that report direct purchase by outlets. Data are projected to represent national totals at the product package level within each channel.

The reported data include purchases of OTC as well as prescriptions products within the covered channels, although coverage for OTC products is substantially less than that for prescription products, due to warehouses that do not handle prescription products and are thus not in scope for NSP. NSP estimates for OTC products have been assessed to represent roughly 50% of the total OTC purchases in the covered channels.

NSP estimated product sales to outlets include any product purchased by outlets that is diverted for non-legitimate use.

NSP thus provides a foundation from which to develop a total Ephedrine/Pseudoephedrine usage estimate, given appropriate adjustments for completeness and legitimate use. The following illustrates the approach utilized for generating an estimate of legitimate ephedrine and pseudoephedrine use from NSP purchase volume estimates.

The steps used in generating the Outlet Sales-data Based estimate of Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine 2005 legitimate use are as follows:

- 1) Extract NSP Ephedrine/Pseudoephedrine Unit Estimates by Product Package
All product packages containing Ephedrine and/or Pseudoephedrine were identified from IMS Health's product master file. This file contains a total of 320 NDCs for product packages containing Ephedrine and 3,587 NDC's for product packages containing Pseudoephedrine (see Excel file attached). NSP monthly estimates of unit (e.g., pills) outlet sales by channel for the period Jan 2004 through Mar 2006 were extracted for all Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine product packages.

C:\AllGovernment
Initiative\Agencies\DI

- 2) Convert Estimated Units to Estimated Weight (in grams) by Product Package
Measures across product packages were normalized using the weight, in grams, of the compound containing Ephedrine or Pseudoephedrine (e.g., the weight, in grams, of Pseudoephedrine HCL in Novafed), using information from IMS' product master file (see Excel file attached in section A1 above). [NOTE: For final estimates, weights will be converted to those for the molecules of interest – Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine – based upon the proportion of molecule of interest present in the compound.]

3) Summarize Estimated Weight (in grams) Across Product Packages

Estimated weights were summed across product package and months to channel (Retail – Chain, Independent, Foodstores – and Other – Mail Service, Non-federal hospitals, Federal Facilities, Long-term Care Facilities, Clinics, HMOs, Home Healthcare, and Miscellaneous) and product type (Rx, OTC) for each molecule. Following are the results for 2005.

2005 Outlet Sales Estimates Source: IMS Health's National Sales Perspective Volume in Million Grams
Channel	Ephedrine Product Type		Pseudoephedrine Product Type
	OTC	Rx	OTC	Rx
Retail	1.2	0.0	179.1	93.8
Other	0.0	0.4	6.5	23.2

4) Estimate NSP Completeness Rates

The underlying assumption is that NSP estimates are unbiased for Rx products and for OTC products within other than Retail channels. Adjustment for NSP completeness is thus limited to the OTC product type within the Retail channel, as this represents the product area and channel where IMS' data sources do not cover the full universe of interest for this project.

Measures of full coverage for OTC products in the Retail channel are obtained from NPA (restricted to OTC products), ST, and HS (refer to Section B for a description of these data sources).

- a) NPA and ST quarterly estimates of unit (e.g., pills) consumer purchases for the period 1Q 2005 through 4Q 2005 were extracted for all Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine product packages, and normalized to weight (in grams) as described in step A2 above, then summarized to across product packages to source (NPA, ST) for each molecule.
- b) ST results were then adjusted to account completeness (mass merchandisers not included in the ST universe and non-covered channels (e.g., convenience stores)), based upon a comparison to 2005 estimated consumer purchases obtained from HS – completeness was estimated to be 46.1% for Pseudoephedrine products and 72.2% for Ephedrine products.
- c) NSP quarterly estimated OTC product weights were compared to combined NPA and adjusted ST quarterly estimated OTC product weights, with the median ratio of NSP to NPA/ST used as the estimated completeness for NSP for 2005. The results were as follows:

2005 Estimated NSP Completeness Rates
	Ephedrine			Pseudoephedrine
	NSP	NPA/ST	Completeness Rate	NSP	NPA/ST	Completeness Rate
1Q2005	0.3	0.9	34.3%	58.8	90.2	65.3%
2Q2005	0.3	0.8	35.5%	45.5	63.1	72.1%
3Q2005	0.3	0.8	34.8%	31.5	44.9	70.0%
4Q2005	0.3	0.8	38.3%	43.3	54.6	79.3%
Median			35.1%			71.1%

5) Adjust NSP for Estimated Completeness Rates

The estimated completeness rates were applied to the NSP estimated Retail OTC product weights, yielding the following:

2005 Outlet Sales Estimates Adjusted for NSP Completeness Rates Volume in Million Grams
	Ephedrine		Pseudoephedrine
	OTC	Rx	OTC	Rx
Retail	3.4	0.0	252.0	93.8
Other	0.0	0.4	6.5	23.2

6) Estimate Impact of Sales Restrictions on Usage

The underlying assumption is that trends in Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine product usage in states that have enacted restrictions on sales of these products provide an appropriate proxy for the relationship between overall and legitimate use of Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine. State sales data over time were examined using DDD information. [NOTE: For final estimates, market level information from ST will be assessed for possible use in estimating impact of sales restrictions.]

IMS Health’s Drug Distribution Data (DDD) provides monthly pharmaceutical product purchases, in units and dollars, for outlets that dispense products through prescriptions and/or physician orders. IMS HEALTH obtains data from two basic sources encompassing roughly 85% of the total U.S. pharmaceutical sales volume: approximately 265 warehouses that supply indirect pharmaceutical purchases by outlets; and approximately 100 manufacturers that report direct purchase by outlets (the same data source as is used for NSP). Data are reported and maintained at the product package level for each outlet.

- a) DDD monthly data on unit (e.g., pills) outlet consumer purchases for the period Nov 2003 through Mar 2006 were extracted for all Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine product packages, and normalized to weight (in grams) as described in step A2 above, then summarized to across product packages and outlets within state to channel (Retail, Other) and product type (Rx, OTC) for each molecule.
- b) State level weight data were aggregated to rolling 3 month levels. Year-over-year ratios were calculated for each molecule/product type/channel/state/month for the period Jan 2005 through Mar 2006.
- c) Based upon an examination of the year-over-year ratios, in conjunction with information on sales restrictions (see attached Excel file), it was determined that impact of sales restrictions were seen beginning with the rolling three month period ending three months after the quarter in which sales restrictions were enacted. To derive an estimated impact of sales restrictions:

- i) for each state in which sales restrictions were enacted, difference between state and benchmark ratios (year-over-year ratios of aggregated weight data for states which had not enacted sales restrictions as of 1Q2006) were derived
- ii) for each month Sep 2005 through Mar 2006, the median difference across states for which the three month lag period had been passed was calculated
- iii) the median of the monthly median differences was derived and used as the expected impact of sales restrictions. The results were as follows:

Estimated Impact of Sales Restrictions on Ephedrine/Pseudoephedrine Total Outlet Sales

Molecule Product Type Channel	Ephedrine				Pseudoephedrine
	Rx		OTC		Rx		OTC
	Retail	Other	Retail	Other	Retail	Other	Retail	Other

- d) As some states had already experienced some part of the impact of sales restrictions, the net impact relative to NSP estimated 2005 national product weights was adjusted based upon distribution of DDD state level product weights and timing of the state sales restrictions. It was assumed 25% of the impact had already been reflected in the sales data for a state, for each quarter prior to 4Q2005 that the state enacted sales restrictions. As a result, the overall estimated impact of sales restrictions were adjusted as follows for application to NSP 2005 outlet sales estimates:

Estimated Impact of Sales Restrictions on Ephedrine/Pseudoephedrine NSP 2005 Outlet Sales

Molecule Product Type Channel	Ephedrine				Pseudoephedrine

7) Estimate Net 2005 Ephedrine/Pseudoephedrine Legitimate Use

The estimated impact of sales restrictions on NSP 2005 outlet sales were then applied to the 2005 outlet sales adjusted for NSP completeness, yielding estimated totals of 333.4 million grams of Pseudoephedrine compounds and 4.5 million grams of Ephedrine compounds as the legitimate use volumes for 2005.

B. Consumer Purchase Data-based Estimate (Base Sources: NPA, ST, HS; Ancillary Sources: NSP, DDD)

IMS Health’s National Prescription Audit (NPA) provides national level weekly and monthly estimates of dispensed prescription volumes, in prescription, units and dollars, for retail (chain, independent, foodstores), mail service, and long-term care pharmacies. Estimates are generated at the product/form/strength level within each of several channels (chain – including mass merchandiser – pharmacies, independent pharmacies, foodstores with pharmacies, mail service pharmacies, and long-term care pharmacies). IMS HEALTH obtains data from roughly 80 chain pharmacy organizations and pharmacy software vendors encompassing over 36,000 pharmacies accounting for over 70% of the total U.S. pharmacy prescription volume. The set of sample retail pharmacy data are subsampled by pharmacy to represent the universe distribution by state and poverty status within Census division, pharmacy type (chain, independent, foodstore), and pharmacy size (small, medium, large), yielding a sample size of roughly 22,000 retail pharmacies accounting for approximately 45% of the total U.S. retail pharmacy prescription volume. All sample mail service pharmacies (approximately 80, accounting for roughly 76% of the total U.S. mail service pharmacy prescription volume) and all sample long-term care pharmacies (over 600, accounting for roughly 50% of the total U.S. long-term care pharmacy prescription volume) are included in the NPA sample. Data are projected to represent national totals at the product/form/strength level within each channel.

ACNielsen’s Scantrack (ST) provides national and selected market level weekly estimates of product sales (not including prescriptions), in units and dollars, made by retail pharmacies, foodstores, and mass merchandisers. Estimates are generated at the product package level. ACNielsen obtains data from over 4,800 stores representing more than 800 retailers in 52 major markets. Data are projected to represent national and market totals at the product package level.

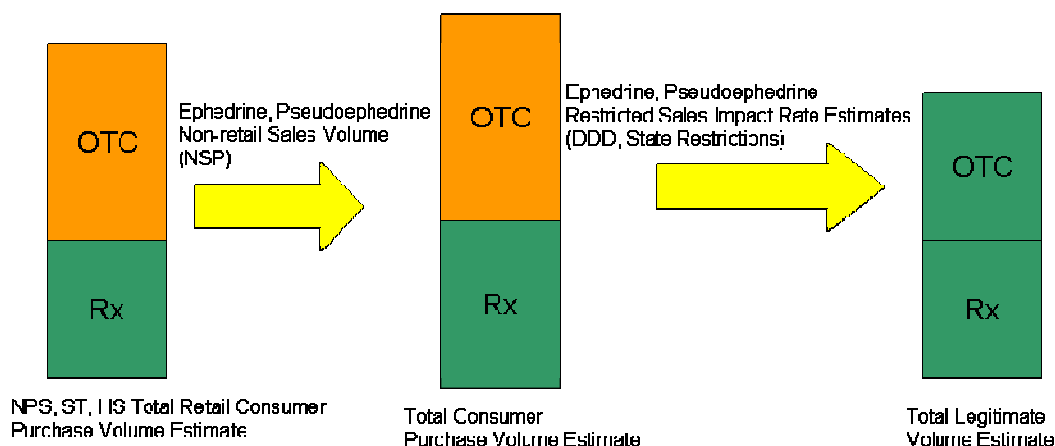

ACNielsen’s Homescan (HS) provides national level annual estimates of product purchases (not including prescriptions), in units and dollars, made by households. Estimates are generated at the product package level. ACNielsen utilizes a panel of approximately 125,000 households in the U.S. that reports data on consumer goods purchases for in home use. Data are projected to represent national totals at the product package level.

NPA, ST, and HS estimates can be integrated so as to provide a complete picture of consumer purchase activity, encompassing both prescription and over-the-counter purchases, for retail channels (retail pharmacies, foodstores, mass merchandisers, convenience stores, etc.). The estimates from these services would not cover purchases in non-retail channels (hospitals, clinics, etc.). In addition, the estimated consumer purchases include any product purchased by consumers that is diverted for non-legitimate use.

NPA, ST, and HS thus provide a foundation from which to develop total Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine usage estimates, given appropriate adjustments for non-covered channels and legitimate use. The following illustrates the approach utilized for generating an estimate of legitimate ephedrine and pseudoephedrine use from combined NPA, ST, and HS purchase volume estimates.

Using NPA, ST, HS Consumer Purchase Volume Data to Estimate Legitimate Ephedrine, Pseudoephedrine Use

The steps used in generating the Consumer Purchase-data Based estimate of Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine 2005 legitimate use are as follows:

- 1) Extract NPA, ST, and HS Ephedrine/Pseudoephedrine Unit Estimates by Product Package
All product packages containing Ephedrine and/or Pseudoephedrine were identified from IMS Health’s product master file (refer to Section A1). NPA monthly estimates of unit (e.g., pills) prescription volumes by channel for the period Jan 2004 through Mar 2006 were extracted for all Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine product packages. ST Quarterly estimates of unit consumer purchase volumes for retail pharmacies/ foodstores/mass merchandisers for the period 1Q2005 through 1Q2006 were extracted for Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine product packages. HS 2005 annual estimates of unit consumer purchase volumes were extracted for Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine product packages.
- 2) Convert Estimated Units to Estimated Weight (in grams) by Product Package
Measures across product packages were normalized to weight, in grams, of the compound containing Ephedrine or Pseudoephedrine as described in Section A2.
- 3) Summarize Estimated Weight (in grams) Across Product Packages
Estimated weights were summed across product package and months/quarters to channel (Retail prescriptions – from NPA; Retail over-the-counter – from ST; Convenience, etc. – from HS) and product type (Rx, OTC) for each molecule. Following are the results for 2005.

2005 Consumer Purchase Estimates Based on NPA, ST, HS Estimates Volume in Million Grams

Over-the-counter	2.8	n/a	233.9	n/a
Convenience,etc	0.0	n/a	4.9	n/a

4) Adjust for Non-covered Channels

As the combined NPA/ST/HS estimated consumer purchase volumes do not encompass non-retail (e.g., hospital, clinic) consumer purchases, NSP estimated outlet sales volumes for other channels as described in Section A3 were used to account for the non-covered channels.

2005 Consumer Purchase Estimates Including Other Channels from NSP Volume in Million Grams

5) Estimate Impact of Sales Restrictions on Usage

Impact of sales restrictions on usage was assumed to be the same as those estimated in Section A6.

6) Estimate Net 2005 Ephedrine/Pseudoephedrine Legitimate Use

The estimated impact of sales restrictions were then applied to the estimated 2005 consumer purchases, yielding estimated totals of 331.0 million grams of Pseudoephedrine compounds and 3.9 million grams of Ephedrine compounds as the legitimate use volumes for 2005.

C. Patient Data-based Estimate (Based Source: ReferencePoint, Ancillary Sources: NDTI, Census Population Estimates, ST, HS, DDD)

IMS Health’s ReferencePoint (RP) provides de-identified, patient-level data obtained from a federal health plan encompassing HMO, PPO, and fee-for-service, and includes information relative to health encounters and prescription drug use that is specific to over 9 million beneficiaries, located in both the continental U.S. as well as federal facilities abroad. The database consists of de-identified patient longitudinal Encounter, Enrollment & Eligibility, and Pharmacy data, as well as a subset of Laboratory and Radiology resultant information. The ReferencePoint (RP) database contains, prescription drug and biologic utilization information, including the generic and brand name of the product, strength, dosage form, days supply, all dates dispensed, initial/continuing therapy indicator, quantity dispensed, and prescriber specialty, and prescribing location for every outpatient fill in a federal facility or any retail pharmacy transaction in which the federal health plan was billed all or any part of the prescription cost.

RP data can be used to estimate Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine prescription utilization rates for the covered population. The utilization rates would not cover over-the-counter purchases.

RP thus provides a foundation from which to develop total Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine usage estimates, given adjustments to the full population and for over-the-counter purchases associated with legitimate use. The following illustrates the approach utilized for generating an estimate of legitimate Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine use from RP patient-level data.

The following illustrates the approach planned for generating an estimate of legitimate ephedrine and pseudoephedrine use from NDTI estimates.

Using RP Patient-Level Data to Estimate Legitimate Ephedrine, Pseudoephedrine Use

The steps used in generating the Patient Data-based estimate of Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine 2005 legitimate use are as follows:

- 1) Identify Diagnoses for which Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine Products are Prescribed
To provide detailed utilization rates, examination by diagnosis is desired. A list of diagnoses was developed through use of NDTI information.

IMS Health's National Disease and Therapeutic Index (NDTI) provides national level monthly and quarterly estimates of disease and treatment patterns occurring in physician offices. In addition, estimates of the total number of patient visits for diseases associated with legitimate ephedrine and pseudoephedrine use are available. Estimates of diagnoses and prescription drug treatment are generated for each of 30 group specialties that primarily diagnose and treat disease. IMS HEALTH obtains data from a sample of 1,373 office-based physicians per month, for a total of 4,120 per quarter. The total universe of office-based physicians in the specialty groups of interest is roughly 462,000. Data are projected to represent national totals by group specialty.

ICD-9 CM diagnosis codes associated with therapeutic categories containing Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine products were identified using 2005 NDTI estimates. When multiple 4-digit diagnoses within the same 3-digit diagnosis, the 3-digit diagnosis code was identified, with all 4-digit diagnoses in-scope. The resulting list of ICD-9 CM's is contained in the attached Excel file.

C:\AIN\Government Initiative\Agencies\DI

- 2) Extract RP Patient Data

All patients within the RP database with either a diagnosis record for FY 2005 (Oct 2004-Sep 2005) in the in-scope list or a prescription transaction for FY 2005 in the list of product packages containing Ephedrine and/or Pseudoephedrine as identified from IMS Health's product master file (refer to Section A1). Total RP FY 2005 unit (e.g., pills) prescription volumes for the period Oct 2004 through Sep 2005 were extracted for all Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine product packages, and linked with diagnoses of interest.

3) Convert Units to Weight (in grams) by Product Package

Measures across product packages were normalized to weight, in grams, of the compound containing Ephedrine or Pseudoephedrine as described in Section A2.

4) Summarize Weight (in grams) Across Product Packages

Weights were summed across product package to diagnosis and total levels within product type (Rx, OTC) for each molecule. Patient counts were also determined for each diagnosis. Following are the FY 2005 results for total and the leading diagnoses associated with Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine usage within the RP population. Note that patients and utilization could be counted for multiple diagnoses.

5) Estimate Per Person Rx Utilization

Per person annual utilization rates were derived within product type for each molecule at the total level, by dividing the total patient utilization by the total number of beneficiaries encompassed by the RP database (9.2 million). [NOTE: For final estimates, per person utilization will be derived within diagnosis, accounting for patients with multiple diagnoses of interest and patients with no record of a diagnosis of interest within the year.] Following are results for FY 2005:

6) Estimate Total U.S. Annual Rx Utilization

Per person utilization rates were multiplied by the July 1, 2005 estimated U.S. population (296.4 million), obtained from the U.S. Census Bureau website, to derive an estimate of the annual Rx utilization for Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine. Following are the results:

7) Adjust for Over-the-counter Purchase Volume

As the RP data do not encompass over-the-counter consumer purchases, ST and HS estimated consumer purchase volumes, adjusted for legitimate use, as described in Section B6 were used to account for over-the-counter legitimate use.

8) Estimate Net 2005 Ephedrine/Pseudoephedrine Legitimate Use

The over-the-counter legitimate use estimates were then added to the estimated 2005 patient Rx utilization estimates, yielding estimated totals of 379.1 million grams of Pseudoephedrine compounds and 3.5 million grams of Ephedrine compounds as the legitimate use volumes for 2005.

D. Integrated Estimate of 2005 Ephedrine and Pseudoephedrine Legitimate Use

The three estimates presented (Outlet Sales, Consumer Purchases, Patient Utilization) are to be weighted based upon assessment of their relative uncertainty. For these preliminary estimates, a simple weighting is recommended: 20% for the Outlet Sales estimate; 40% for the Consumer

IMS Health

DEA Ephedrine/Pseudoephedrine Usage Estimation Methodology

Purchases estimate; and 40% for the Patient Utilization estimate. These weights reflect the fact that the Outlet Sales estimate and the Consumer Purchases estimate are closely linked due to the use of NSP Other channels in both and the use of NAP/ST, and HS in estimating NSP completeness rates. [NOTE: For the final estimates, sensitivity analyses will be carried out to provide more quantification of estimate uncertainty in determining weights] The recommended weighting yielding estimated totals of 379.1 million grams of Pseudoephedrine compounds and 3.5 million grams of Ephedrine compounds as the preliminary legitimate use volumes for 2005.
